A hard earned reputation

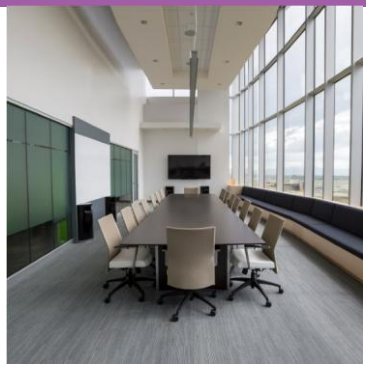
When you want your business to look its best, who should you turn to? From presenting a first class image to boosting morale and wellbeing, choosing top quality cleaning can boost your company's performance.

Can you make a fresh, professional impression while walking the tricky tightrope between quality and value for money? It's not easy - but we believe the answer is to do things the Gurkha Way.

And since 2006 customers across Kent have agreed, trusting Kent Gurkha Company's professionalism, reliability and work ethic.

These values form our philosophy and guide our efforts. Whatever the background of our staff, we share this core devotion to delivering outstanding cleaning results. Creating high standards which will lift your environment to new levels with the aid of silky smooth operations.

Let us demonstrate the Kent Gurkha difference and how your premises can look better than ever. .



Effortlessly conscientious

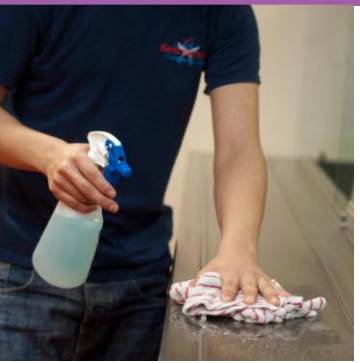
Getting things right doesn't have to be hard work. So we manage your contract to make life a little easier

From the start of our relationship we will design a tailored package for you to deliver both service and value. Working together we will create a comprehensive cleaning programme, set targets and put in place the right team. Handovers and transfers will be conducted smoothly.

Once underway you hopefully won't notice us much. But you will notice the results. And be happy.

If things appear easy on the surface, that's because of the hard work happening in the background. We monitor your contract in detail – with frequent Quality Control audits, reviews and performance monitoring. We track our achievements, and can identify at an early stage any problems or opportunities for new procedures to benefit you.

Superior performance and outstanding value - that sums up the Kent Gurkha difference.



Shining stars

Achieving stunning results depends on the people doing the job. And at Kent Gurkha we believe ours are special.

We have a team of long-serving, loyal employees, and we value them highly. Experienced and dedicated, we also help them stay happy and motivated. That means better performance - and better results for you.

We comprehensively vet and verify all staff for your safety and security, with DBS certificates in place for all. Most come recommended to us, often from backgrounds associated with the military. We provide them with training to BICSc standards for both cleaning techniques and essential health and safety. We choose the best so you receive the best.

Quality people working to the Gurkha philosophy - it makes for a formidable cleaning team.

"After using a variety of different cleaning companies, we began using Kent Gurkha and have since added a 2nd site and renewed both multiple times, choosing them as our ongoing preferred cleaning contractor.

From the very first meeting their approach has been very professional, taking time to fully understand our requirements, providing a detailed proposal and more importantly implementing the actual cleaning to the highest possible level.

We're very pleased to have made the switch and would highly recommend"
